COMMERCIAL UNION HITH CANADA.

The talk of a commercial union between the I nited States and Canada is based on the propertion that it would be a useful time for both countries to establish a uniform tarriff upon 1 is ports from all other countries; and to allow free trade. between themselves in all commodities It has been sugges ea that such a uploa would be in possible because England would not con-sent to it, since it would be a discrimination on the part of Canada against the mother country in favor of a fire gnumber. This probably s a correct indement for though Canada now levice a tariff on English goods equal to that leviced by her on American goods the Luglish manufacturer would, in bubly object to an rangement be were the Lutted States and Can ida which wou a give the American manufac turer an advantage in the Canadian market Still, it is the ight by many that the hogh h covernment wood no peremptoris forbid such commercial units. The Milwaukes Sert a lars *Canada already has bome rule and the idea of home rule is growing in favor in Eng land itself. The adoption of the present Canadian tariff was in opposition to the interests and wishes of logiand but it was not resisted by law. The cornection between the two countries so one of sentimen and tradition rather than of a material character, and there is no likelihood that any resistance with d be offered were the dominton to declare its entire independence. Under these circumstances there is no probabil

Not long since John Eright received an invita-tion to attend and deliver an address at a great emperance meeting in England. He excused himself with expressions of regret on account of his inability to attend, but wrote a letter in which he stated at some length his own views on present phases of the temperance inevenent. We quote this passage-

We quote this passage. With the temperance societies are moving for is for the most part such a change in our legislation as will compel our people to greater sobriety. Something may be done by the proposed legisla on but to force the changes that are asked for will ren't. I more combined public opinion than been brought to bear upon it. quest of the court on is second, and not till the court of the court will remove or lessen the many temptations to which our populations are incessantly exposed. I think such requires to be done to bring over public opinion and practice to the side of temperance before even such changes of the law as may be use juican be affected and when that public opinion is formed and secured great changes in the law may not be necessary, or being deemed necessary they may be more easily made and by a general consent more willingly obeyed. I believe some useful changes in the laws may be made but I amove disposed to rely on public leaching and more more disposed to rely on public teaching and upon the results of extended education and of good $\epsilon_{\rm A}$ ample than upon anything that parliament can do This is as wise counsel at the present time for the United States as for England It is a mis-take to try to substitute the external force of law for the internal forces of education, persuasion and moral growth. This is the position of all thinkers of repute in both homispheres

THE WHEAT LATE

In recommending an average reduction of 2) per cent. in the whitst and wool rates of the Ore-gon Railway & Navigation Company, the state railroad commission has been very moderate In justice, the wheat rate which is now So per ton to Portland should be reduced to $1, and we are surprised that the communication we are surprised that the communication contents itself with a rate higher than $1. This we be lieve would be a fair rate. It would pay the railroad a fine profit and it would still leave the producer something for his labor. It would stimulate the production of wheat, and thereby increase the industry and income of the and so increase the business and general traffic. It would alike profit the railroad and traine. It would alike profit the railroad and the people. In recommending a reduction of twenty-five per cent the commission has kept clearly within the mark, doubtless for sound reasons of policy. The company can hardly refuse to adopt its suggestions, in view of the promises before the last legislature, and in fear of the wrath of the next legislature And in making a lower rate for Oregon, there must also be a lower rate from Washingt in ternitory.

mined that the real inventor of driven wells has such a property in his invention as gives him, or persons claiming under him, the evaluative right to use it, and that the re-usued patent recognizing this state of the case is valid Everybody, therefore, must accommodate himself to the law as thus laid down. Many farmets and manufacturers may think it a bardebip that they cannot drive an mon pipe into the ground and put a pump on the top of it, and so easily supply themselves with an abundance of water without paying something to Nelson (steen or his partners and age that fribute must be used to those who have ase that tribute must be paid to those who have engrossed the right to make fences rough w harbs and prickle but the patent laws allow this adaptation to the schemes of monopoly of appliances known to mangind for ages, and there are the last truth. and there is no bely for it

d tric and employs many men, but only the Reed presents, phone named ally turning rock (at) money—its monthly out put is the t_cco (ens of ore yielding between 500 and (10 tens of cencen rates, worth a little then re of 7100 (0 1 m), half of this sum is expended in and ab or the mine and mill for ever epiment wor enjoiredendence, labor, fiel, e.c. The mouthly shipments amount to about 00 tens of concentrates, or 20 car loads. These shipments now follow a circuitous and costly refuse the mental state of the mill of the concentrates of the results of the contentrate of the mill of the contentrate of the contentrate of the mill of the contentrate of the contentrate of the mill of the contentrate of the contentrate of the mill of the contentrate of the conte costly reach Starting at the mill, they go in neighber wagens three miles to Wardner June cars they go fifteen miles to the Cour d Alene river, where they are transferred to barge or sembort sixty five index by water with an other transfer to cars and another rail carriage of hir een index, and then are no the Northern Pacific railroad at risusers Junction twenty miles sent of Sections holds. acine rannond of mansers sunction twenty niles east of spekars balls and about equally instant from Wicks, M niana (where they go for (equation) and our own city of Portland This broken journey is expensive not alone be-cause of the many transfers, but because there is a considerable loss if the concentrates by each movement. The concentrated ores, having much the appearance of course, duk and, are packed in sacks, each when alled being are pecsed in sucas, each when their being about the size of an unabridged dictionary, weighing upwards of the pounds and worth about $5. There is a considerable loss by sitt ing through the canvas and a much larger lo by the tearing and breaking of the bags. The loss as certainly not less than $20 per ton upon a general average—ill of which would be saved by direct shipment in tight cars.

as to the amount of inward freights and can only give estimates which I think are not far from the face. Including general supplies for 3000 people (I speak only of the silver district) feed for perhaps 400 horses, machinery, etc., the amount at this time is about fifty carloads lake route that is, they come from Portland or San Francisco at the West, or from Helena or St. Paul at the East to Hauser's, unction, twenty miles east of Spokane. There they take car for Cour d'Alene City ou the lake, are forwarded misty five miles by steamboat, again take the more about the capacity of the muses than any other man in the district, how much freig to m the silver destrict there would be for the O R & N (or any other road) if it ran its cars into Wardner. He said that by the time a read could be completed, if it were begun at once, there would be 200 tons, or twenty car leads of concentrates and hand sorted ores for shipment every day. This from the Reed property alone There would probably be as much more from the Sierra Nevaus and other mines The freights of the gold district are naturally much lighter than in the silver district, since the product goes out in the form of gold. The only business for a railroad in such a district is the neward freights and the passenger traffic. At the present time the north side, including Murray and the smaller camps, take about fortyfive carloads of general supplies per month five carloads of general supplies per month This freight comes for the most part from Thompson's Falls, a station on the Northern Pacific about a hundred miles east of Hauser's Junction Between Thompson's and Murray there is a very high mountain range, and team ing is very hard The greater part of the year's supplies are by spht in in winter when the enow makes comparatively easy freignting There is, especially during the summer months, a good deal of freighting from Wardner June-

tion into Murray
The country is in sore need of transportation The present routes are broken and tedlous, sub-jec to long delays and expensive losses. That jec to long delays and exponents.

d velipment goes on at all under the present

With further development at Wardner, and with the opening of the great mines at Wallace and Mullan, the traffic of this region will grow as nobody would now date to guess. I question if one rulroad will be able to do the business in three years from this time, and I have no doubt that the company which gets it will find it more profitable than the grain traffic of the Columbia rour failroad companies are eager for this trailt. As Union Pacific, with the idea of connecting the district with Portland, the Northern Pac fir, with the idea of conflecting the district either with Paget sound or Montana, the Manitoba, with the purpose of building up a great smelling deput at Michigan Rapids, Dakota, and a local company contact the contact of t a local company organized recently at Helm the make a direct connection between (where is the and that city. By means of the little by the from Hauser's Junction to Cour d Alene! connecting there with steamboats, and at the head of the lake with Mr. Corbin's local parrow c.u.g. line running from The Mission to Wardner Junction, the Northern Pacific is already collecting tell from the district, both on its in-any of the others All that is required is an extension, of ninety miles of its Farmington branch, for the most part over a level country That part of the line in the Cour d'Alene die That part or the line in the Greur d'Alene dis-tilet would be rough, but without serious en givering d'fliculties. The Union Pacific has, hesides the shortest, the casiest natural route. From Wardner to Portland a car would not cross a ringle elevation, the grade being steadily downward, and almost a water love! At Port-land the unea the water field and silver hare would be upon tide water, where it could make its choice in the lead markets here and San Fractice, or in the markets of the world

Should the Nertle n I at ne get this business it must carry heavy frains over the Cascade moun tains to get it to the seato aid, or an equal distance to Wicks, Moutans, where there is no market for lead or silver boilion. The same of figurities are in the new contracts. officulties are in the way of the Mantob and the proposed Heleun lines. Hising carried the product of the district to reduction works at Michigan napids or Heleun i. Las still another you are to make before reaching the markets of the world.

Portland than at Puget sound, Helona, Wicks or Michigan Rupics for the reason that we have here the essentials for reduction at fees cost. Coke may be brought here as cheap ballast in grain ships other fuels are at hand, dry ores for fluxes may be had from Eastern and Southern Oregon at cheap rates,—all the conditions are favorable here. All that is needed now is direct transportation and reduction works of large capacity To the Union Pacific we look for the one, and local enterprise ought to supply

Portland's natural relation to the Cour d'Alene district is seen in one important fact, namely, that without direct communication and In spite of the severe adverse discrimination of the Northern Pacific railroad she still supplies a large share of the merchandese consumed in the large share of the merchandise consumed in the camp Just what proportion comes from Portland it is impossible to find out, but Portland marks are seen often enough to indicate that our city is the main source of supply.

Portland men now hold the most valuable properties in the district, including the only mine from which ore is being shipped Portland men are seen everywhere, and the spirit of the camp is entirely favorable to Portland I have been at some pains to make up a list of Portland men interested here, and if it is not complied it is nearly so S of Reed, B. The value of the e many interests it is not pos s ble to estimate, but it is no stretch of the trath to say it at they run up into the millions that they run up into the millions that of any it will be seen, has not only the natural relation of previmity to this great district, but the further relation which comes from a stand wherehip of mining properties. WELL-KNOWN RESIDENCE FOR SALE .- There was recorded yesterday a power of attorney from Mrs. Deborah H. Ingersoll to the Portland Trust Company of Oregon, authorizing that corporation to sell for not less than $6000 the very desirable for at the northeast corner of Second and Hall streets, log-ther with the large two-story residence built by the late Capt. Nathaniel Ingersoll. The property fronts 100 feet on Hall street, between First and Second, by 6 feet on Second, and will prove a desirable investment as prospective unsiness projectly or as a comfortable and well-designed huma. THE JUNE FLOOD.

THE UPPER COLUMBIA AND THE SNAKE FALLING
—THE WILLAMETER RISHNO.
In the twenty four bours ending at 8:30 yesterday morning the Snake at it puria fell three lockes, and masked 20 feet? inches. At Collin the Columbia rose twenty-one inches, and masked 23 feet o inches. The Willam ette at Portland at 8 P. M. masked 23 8, a rise of twelve inches in twenty-four hours.

hours.

EVENING REPORT.

Riparia, 5 P. M.—Suske river marks 21 feet 4 laches, a fail of 3 loches since morning report.

Cellio, 5 P. M.—The Columbia marks 21 feet 2 laches, a rise of 5 inches since morning report.

MIDNIOHT.

Wallula Junction, 12 P. M.—The Columbia has failen 5 inches since 6 P. M.

By this evening the Wilamette will mark about 24.6 feet, which is nine tenths of a foot higher than it was June 3, 1876, and will probably touch 25.5 feet by Saturday night. Then it will likely recede a little until the next spell of hot weather meits more snow. In 1876 the river began failing June 3, and went down an inch or two every day for four days, till it touched 23.1; then it began to rise very slowly every day till June 24, when it reached the maximum.
